

tinavienna

- smart city agentur
- energy center
- urban future hub

The EU funded project „CORE – Integration im Zentrum“, provides a framework for innovative approaches to supporting asylum seekers and refugees in settling in from the day they arrive. The project aim is to bring together the varying support offered by existing public and private institutions, organisations and initiatives, focusing specifically on job opportunities and further education for refugees. A central element of CORE is the direct involvement of refugees in project activities. The project will run for three years and began in November 2016.

Within the framework of CORE, and in cooperation with project partners, TINA Vienna GmbH is developing the CORE – Empowerment Think Tank (ETT), which will be active for the duration of the project. The Think Tank is closely linked to the operational activities of CORE and will be in constant exchange with project partners and important stakeholders.

To assist in the build up and management of the ETT, the Urban Future Hub within TINA Vienna GmbH seeks at the earliest possible date two

Project Team Members on the basis of marginal employment

Job description:

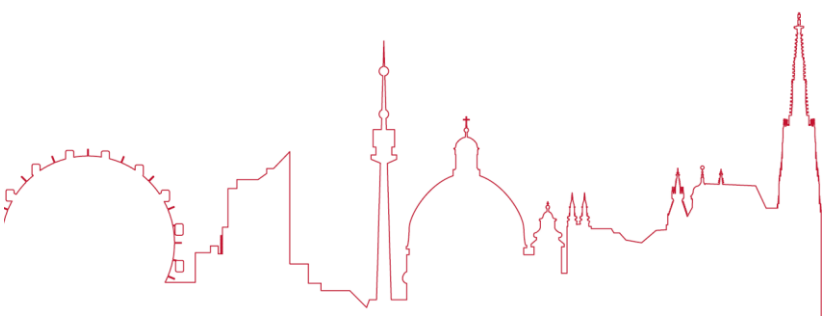

Under the close guidance of experts you will contribute to:

- the conceptualization of key themes
- research on identified themes, as well as policies and strategies in the context of forced migration, asylum and integration in selected cities
- expert interviews and discussions
- building connections to refugee communities and collecting personal experiences
- providing translation services at events and individual interviews
- the preparation and organisation of ETT-events
- ETT-products (e.g. policy papers, reports and recommendations)

About you

- Approved refugee status or subsidiary protected person
- Preferably (currently enrolled) in higher education in a relevant subject, such as economics, sociology, social work, political science, international development, education.
- Formal or documented informal qualification and experience in one of the following areas: volunteer work, community work, consulting or research in topics such as education, labour markets, housing and integration.
- Required language skills: English (C1), German (A2)

tinavienna

- smart city agentur
- energy center
- urban future hub

- High level of interest in questions relating to labour market, education and integration policies
- Good writing skills
- Proactive and team oriented

What we offer:

- Marginal employment, min. 8 hours per week (maximum wage: 425,70 Euros per month)
- Contribution to the building of a Think Tank, which will support and advise project partners and decision makers in the context of asylum seekers, refugees and integration.
- Exchange with Viennese and international experts as well as multiple networking opportunities

Women are expressly encouraged to apply for this role.

Please send your application and supporting documents (cover letter, CV, availability) to Mag. Herbert Bartik via email.

Herbert.Bartik@tinavienna.at.

The CORE project is co-financed by the European Regional Development Fund within the Urban Innovative Actions Initiative.

